ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

There are a number of people whose expertise and encouragement helped me complete this project. I would first and foremost like to thank my thesis committee: Marianne Wokeck, Nancy Robertson, and Erik Saak. Dr. Wokeck, the chair of my thesis committee, helped me determine and adjust the scope of this project, reviewed numerous drafts, and offered constructive suggestions to improve the project. Dr. Wokeck has also been an invaluable advisor, enthusiastically offering me guidance throughout my graduate studies. Dr. Robertson directed me to valuable source material and helped me refine my ideas and approach the project. Dr. Saak provided me with many helpful suggestions and insights regarding the annotation and preparation of the addresses.

The staff of the Indiana Historical Society's William Henry Smith Memorial Library was most helpful as I conducted my research. I would also like to thank M. Teresa Baer, of the IHS Press, for engaging in many conversations about Indiana history and the formation of the state's second constitution.

Finally, I thank my husband Michael for providing me with suggestions and much support as I completed this project.
